Mead 260 DOJV Ricardo Hojyeywater. died comparatively poor. The sale of his library, pictures, and statues, c., realized about 16,000?., and he had other property amounting to about 35,000/.; but, after the payment of his debts, not more than 20,000/. remained to be divided amongst his four children. His only son, however, was amply provided for, having entered into the possession of 30,000/. under will of Dr. Mead s unmarried brother Samuel, an eminent barrister, and a Commissioner of the Customs. Fortunate beyond fortunate men, Mead had the great tnisfortune of living too long. His sight failed, and his powers underwent that gradual decay which is the saddest of all possible conclusions to a vigorous and dignified existence. Stories might be ferreted up of the indignities to which he submitted at thp hands of a domineering valet. Long, however, before he sunk into...
