Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Set in the 1960s, Daphne Carter is a vivacious, witty, wealthy twenty-year-old with a social conscience and a glamorous job in the Kennedy White House. She has everything going for her -- until she doesn't. Ernest Kolowrat was born in Prague in 1935. After attending schools in the former Czechoslovakia, Turkey and England, he graduated from Yale and served as a junior naval reserve officer with the U. S. Pacific Fleet. During the decade of the 1960s, he was successively employed as world affairs editor for Scholastic Magazines in New York, director of information for the American Institute for Foreign Study in Greenwich, Connecticut, and director of 10th Anniversary Programs of the Peace Corps in Washington. Since 1971, he has been a freelance writer, publicist and filmmaker. He is the author of Hotchkiss: A Chronicle of an American School. Ernest Kolowrat has written a tender, haunting love story set in a long-ago world that was really only yesterday. --Stephen Birmingham, Author Our Crowd A perceptive story of a courageous girl with insightful nuances of social conventions of...
